INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

To the Board of Directors Foundation for National Progress San Francisco, California

We have audited the accompanying statements of financial position of the Foundation for National Progress (the "Foundation") as of December 31, 2010 and 2009, and the related statements of activities, functional expenses and cash flows for the years then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the management of the Foundation. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform our audits to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes consideration of internal control over financial reporting as a basis for designing audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Foundation's internal control over financial reporting. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements, assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Foundation as of December 31, 2010 and 2009, and the changes in its net assets and its cash flows for the years then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

1. Organization

The Foundation for National Progress (the "Foundation") was organized in 1975 as a nonprofit corporation for charitable, scientific and educational purposes. In furtherance of its objectives, the Foundation accomplishes such objectives by undertaking the following: studies and research concerning problems related to the political and economic progress of American civilization; the relationship between science, technology and social change; the problems of democracy and selfgovernment in the workplace; the relationship among nations, means for promoting peace and reducing causes of war; alternatives to war and peaceful methods for adjusting disputes among nations; the role of law in international affairs; problems of world government; the furtherance of social justice for people of all classes, races and sexual preferences; and related or similar objectives. The Foundation further accomplishes such objectives by facilitating and providing discussions, seminars and publications on all of the above subjects. In all its activities, the Foundation encourages complete independence in the views, outlooks and opinions expressed by all persons participating in its affairs. The Foundation itself does not adopt, sponsor, nor promote any viewpoint or proposal. The results of any studies done under the Foundation's auspices or any of its publications shall be made available to all on a non-discriminatory basis. To achieve its mission, in 1976 the Foundation launched Mother Jones magazine to provide a diverse national audience with investigative journalism and reporting on environmental and social justice concerns, and since the inception of the Mother Jones Internship Program in 1980 the Foundation has provided editorial internships to aspiring journalists providing real-world experience in the essentials of investigative journalism. In 1993, MotherJones.com was created to broaden the reach of the Foundation. With the launch of its website, MotherJones.com in 1993, Mother Jones became the first general-interest magazine on the Internet, and from its inception, has broadened the reach and impact of the Foundation's studies and research.

A significant amount of the Foundation's grants and contributions is an unconditional promise received from a related party ($2.17 million in 2010 and $2.1 million in 2009). As the Foundation has experienced recurring losses and negative cash flows, withdrawal of this support would have a significant impact on the financial condition of the Foundation. The related party has the intent and ability to support the Foundation as necessary in 2011.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Basis of presentation

The financial statements of the Foundation have been prepared on the accrual basis of accounting. Net assets and changes therein are classified as unrestricted, temporarily restricted or permanently restricted net assets based on the absence or existence and type of donor-imposed restrictions, if any.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies (continued)

Contributions

Contributions received are reported as unrestricted, temporarily restricted or permanently restricted, depending upon donor restrictions, if any. Contributions, including unconditional promises to give, are recognized as revenues in the period the promise is received. Conditional promises to give are not recognized until they become unconditional; that is when the conditions on which they depend are substantially met. Unconditional promises to give that are expected to be collected in future years are recorded at the present value of the amounts expected to be collected. When a donor restriction expires, that is, when a stipulated time restriction ends or purpose restriction is accomplished, temporarily restricted net assets are reclassified as unrestricted net assets. All contributions receivable at December 31, 2010 are expected to be received in the subsequent year.

Donated services and materials

A number of volunteers have made significant contributions of time to the Foundation. The value of this contributed time is not recorded in the accompanying financial statements because it does not meet the requirements for recognition. Donated services are recognized as contributions if the services (a) create or enhance non-financial assets or (b) require specialized skills, are performed by people with those skills and would otherwise be purchased by the organization.

Donated materials are recorded as contributions based on the estimated fair value at the date the promise is made.

Deferred subscription revenue

Deferred revenue represents unfulfilled subscriptions and deferred advertising revenue at year-end, which are earned as the subscriptions are fulfilled and the advertisements are published.

Cash and cash equivalents

The Foundation considers all highly liquid investments purchased with a maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

Concentrations of credit risks

The Foundation established an allowance for uncollectible accounts receivable based on historical collection experience and management's evaluation of collectibility of outstanding accounts receivable. Receivables are charged against the allowance for doubtful accounts when management believes that collectibility is unlikely. Bad debt recoveries are included in income as realized. Accounts receivable are stated net of an allowance for doubtful accounts of $19,460 and $15,009 at December 31, 2010 and 2009, respectively.

The Foundation maintains cash balances at several financial institutions located in San Francisco. Periodically, such balances may be in excess of federally insured limits.

Property, plant and equipment

Property, plant and equipment are stated at cost or at fair value at time of donation if contributed. The Foundation capitalizes all expenditures for property and equipment in excess of $1,000. Depreciation and amortization are provided using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the related assets ranging from three to ten years or, if shorter, the term of the related lease. Repairs and maintenance are charged to expenses as incurred. Upon sale or retirement of depreciable assets, the related cost and accumulated depreciation or amortization are removed from the accounts. Any gain or loss on the sale or retirement is recognized in current operations.

Deferred rent

The Foundation leases building space in San Francisco, California under an operating lease. The lease contains rental increases at various points throughout the lease term. The Foundation recognizes rent expense on a straight-line basis over the lease term. Deferred rent is provided to reflect the differences between rent recorded in the financial statements and actual rent paid according to the lease terms.

Compensated absences

The Foundation accrues a liability for vested vacations to which employees are entitled.

Allocation of functional expenses

The costs of providing the various program services and supporting activities have been summarized on a functional basis in the statements of activities and functional expenses. Accordingly, certain costs have been allocated among the various functions based on estimates of time and direct costs.

Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect certain reported amounts and disclosures. Accordingly, actual results could differ from those estimates.

Income taxes

The Foundation is exempt from federal income taxes under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code and is exempt from California franchise tax under California revenue and taxation code 23701(d).

The Foundation has evaluated its current tax positions and has concluded that as of December 31, 2010, the Foundation does not have any significant uncertain tax positions for which a reserve would be necessary.

Fair value measurements

Fair value is defined as the exchange price that would be received for an asset or paid to transfer a liability (an exit price) in the principal or most advantageous market for the asset or liability in an orderly transaction between market participants on the measurement date. The Foundation determines the fair values of its assets and liabilities based on a fair value hierarchy that includes three levels of inputs that may be used to measure fair value (Level 1, Level 2 and Level 3). Level 1 inputs are quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the Foundation has the ability to access at the measurement date. An active market is a market in which transactions occur with sufficient frequency and volume to provide pricing information on an ongoing basis. Level 2 inputs are inputs other than quoted prices that are observable for the asset or liability. Unobservable inputs reflect the Foundation's own assumptions about the assumptions market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability (including assumptions about risk). Unobservable inputs are developed based on the best information available in the circumstances and may include the Foundation's own data. The Foundation had no assets or liabilities that required a fair value measurement.

Subsequent events

The Foundation has evaluated subsequent events through May 18, 2011, the date the financial statements were available to be issued. No subsequent events have occurred that would have a material impact on the presentation of the Foundation's financial statements.

Additionally, it is guaranteed by a member of the Board of Directors. Interest is payable monthly.
