

on the table

Your voice matters.

WHAT: The Chicago Community Trust's On the Table is an annual forum designed to elevate civic conversation, foster new relationships and inspire collaborative action across the region. These small group, mealtime conversations are an opportunity to discuss the challenges and opportunities our communities face, and aim to inspire new ways we can work together to make communities stronger, safer and more dynamic.

WHO: Tens of thousands of Chicago-area residents – anyone can sign up to host a mealtime conversation.

WHERE: Meals can take place virtually anywhere – at a private residence, local restaurant, place of worship, library, office, backyard or other community location over breakfast, lunch, dinner and everything in between. It is entirely up to the host to decide where, when and how the mealtime conversation takes place.

WHEN: Tuesday, May 16, 2017

WHY: The act of people coming together to discuss the issues that matter most to them has never been more important. Progress will only result when residents and organizations collaborate to make contributions that add up to greater solutions. On the Table connects individuals and communities of diverse perspectives and backgrounds to do just that.

What you do matters – and when we come together as a community to learn from and with each other, we have the power to impact both neighborhoods and lives. The Chicago Community Trust believes not only that what you do matters, but also that your voice matters. For the past three years of On the Table, the Trust has seen the power of people coming together with their neighbors to talk, listen, learn and take action to support positive change in our community – and is excited to see these acts continue.
